2 Introduction

We bring life to your team on or off the playing field. Whether you are stepping onto the court or into the office we are here to complete that head-to-toe presentation.

What We Stand For:

- Customization Options
- Quality Products
- Quick Turn
- Competitive Pricing

Our Story

We're pretty much the same as everyone else; kids playing after school sports, baseball, footballs, basketball, volley ball, the usual assortment. Well, one difference, a lot of us at Custom Design Group started our careers in the sock business, designing, manufacturing and marketing high-quality athletic socks. Pretty soon our kids were asking for what seemed logical, socks with their team names. Local manufacturing options existed - 6-10 weeks turn around, high minimums, and said politely, not inexpensive. There had to be another way.

We worked with our athletic sock manufacturers to come up with some socks with our kid's school names knit into the fabric. More or less a favor to us and to keep the kids happy. Couple of things happened. Our kids starting wearing their socks to practice and the whole team wanted them. And they'd play in them and their opponents wanted custom socks, too. So we had some knit for the local teams in our area. And we realized we were onto something.

We took our acrylic All-Sports athletic sock, added some visual design features, created a customization panel along the back of the sock, stocked 16 basic yarn colors, locked in a handful of sock machines dedicated to knitting this one basic style.

We invented “Standardized Customization”

- Great quality athletic sock, moisture-wicking acrylic body, arch compression, seamless toe, half cushion foot.
- 16 stock yarn colors producing hundreds of school uniform combinations.
- Maximum 10 letters knit into the socks.
- Four sizes available.
- 14-21 day turn around.
- Pricing 50% below the market.

Didn't stop there, never does. We were making a great product but the market was asking for even more customization options; patterns, wild graphics, and team mascot logos. This demand gave rise to sublimation printing on socks allowing for unlimited graphics and designs. We got into that pretty good using local resources to print the socks. In the course of things we created a unique sock that maintains the foot cushioning while providing the vibrant printed leg.

Two things happened next. Teams and schools really liked the socks but they only wanted one source for all their custom needs- Uniforms, Tee Shirts, Hats, Hoodies and of course, Socks. Right about this time a second event occurred, our sublimation printers ran into some issues. So we bought a local print shop and instantly we were in the custom shirt and uniform business. Along with the socks, of course.

Custom Design Group is full service now:

GENERAL INFO

4 General Information

DIRECT TO GARMENT (DTG) PRINTING

A fabric printing method that uses a modified ink-jet process applying the inks directly onto the garment. DTG eliminates the step of printing the image onto a transfer paper and then heat set transferring the image from the paper to the fabric. The art is created on a computer and digitally printed by the printer. We use a heat dryer and post-printing heat-press to lock the image into the fabric.

Benefits of Direct To Garment Printing

1. Small runs – as few as 12 garments.
2. Quick turns – 3-5 days depending on availability of inventories and art approval.
3. Image is infused into the fabric, more permanent, doesn't crack or peel.
4. Can reproduce full color range of the original image.
5. No set up or post production clean-up.
6. Environmentally cleaner and more efficient- minimal ink waste and residue.

Limits to Direct To Garment Printing

1. Best for smaller runs- up to 100 units.
2. Image is softer than screen printing – not as crisp.

SCREEN PRINTING

A method of creating an image on fabric or other material by pressing ink through a screen with areas blocked off by a stencil.

Benefits of Screen Printing

1. Large runs, 100+ units.
2. Vibrant, bright image.
3. Image sits on top of the fabric – has tactile feel.
4. Prints on many fabrications including cotton and cotton/polyester blends.
5. More economical over large runs.
6. More versatile printing light on dark blanks or dark on light blanks.

Limits to Screen Printing

1. Not cost effective for runs less than 100 units.
2. Image will fade and crack over time.
3. Color range is limited to the number of screens available – usually less than 10.

SUBLIMATION PRINTING

A method of printing that uses heat and pressure to transfer an ink image to a fabric or other material. The computer image is first printed onto a transfer paper which then is laid onto the material. Heat and pressure lock the image into material.

Benefits of Sublimation Printing

1. Vibrant, crisp printing.
2. Photographic imagery – maximum customization.
3. Can reproduce full color range of the original image.
4. Economical at minimums of 48 units or more

Limits to Sublimation Printing

1. Relatively more expensive method than screen or direct to garment.
2. Works best with certain synthetic fabrics like polyester.
3. Works best on a flat surface fabric, does not print into the ribs of knit fabric.
4. Not economical in small runs.

EMBROIDERY

A method of decorating and finishing products, typically apparel and bags, using ornamental needlework, stitching imagery directly into the garment.

Benefits of Embroidery

1. Highest quality image becomes a permanent embellishment to the garment.
2. Clean, crisp, most often shiny.
3. Options include direct embroidery, twill patches and 3D surface.

Limits to Embroidery

1. Relatively more expensive.
2. Large orders require multiple-head embroidery machinery.
3. Imagery is limited – cannot provide the colors and details of printing on a fabric
4. Longer lead times.

CUSTOM DESIGN

CUSTOM BAGS FOR YOUR EVENT OR TEAM

Players really like the swagger that comes with complete look, not just head to toe, but bag and all. We wanted to offer teams customized bags matching their uniforms. The challenge, from a production standpoint, to get fabric printed with the team colors and graphic required literally hundreds and hundreds of bags.

Our customers were outfitting their team, 10, 20, 30 players. The solution, just like with socks, "standardized customization". We invented the duffel and backpack with the zip off removable sublimation panel. The front panel of the backpack and duffel bag is a white "blank". We take this "blank" and sublimates with your graphics – as many as you need for your team.

In addition, we offer a premium backpack and messenger bags, can be screen printed or embroidered.
